

CONCEPT STUDIO

Studio is the result of years of research and experimentation that have allowed us to produce an IGT wine, in which Trebbiano di Soave, an excellent indigenous grape of the Soave area, is the protagonist.

Studio is a blend of Trebbiano di Soave, partially aged in 680 lt French oak barrels. Ca' Rugate is the first winery in Italy to use these size barrels, most commonly used by the top domaines of Burgundy.

The label is notable by the stylized figure of a ballet dancer. To understand the significance of this image and as well as the meaning of the new wine, just read the text on the back label:

To study is to explore new limits.

To study is to discover.

To study is to stop at nothing

As behind the elegant and perfect movements of a ballet dancer lie years of practice, training and passionate commitment, behind the aromas and the fullness of Study are years of research, experimentation and tenacious enthusiasm.

In our learning process we believe we have uncovered a new way of interpreting these two extraordinary varieties typical of the area.

And for us, as is true for a dancer, our study does not end there.
